PROSPECTUS
THE PUBLISHING AT THE CAPITAL OF THE STATE, THE

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES

OF THE
CONVENTION OF KENTUCKY,
To be held at Frankfort, on the first Monday in October next, to adopt a new Constitution for the State.

The following resolution has been adopted by the Legislature, and approved by the Governor, viz:

"Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That John W. Finnell and William Tanner, be and they are hereby authorized to procure the services of a competent and faithful printer to report the Proceedings and Debates of the Convention, called to modify, amend, or re-adopt the Constitution of Kentucky: Provided, That the contract, when made with the Reporters, shall be submitted to, and approved by the Governor of the Commonwealth."

Under the sanction of this authority, the services of the most competent Strategists to be procured in the Union, will be secured, to report in full the PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES of the Convention to meet as above.

The Reports will be more full and accurate, it is believed, than those of any similar body, the proceedings of which now constitute part of the history of the constitutional science of our great confederacy. For, besides having the official sanction of the Convention, and the supervision of the legislative assembly named in the resolution above, they will first be published in a cheap daily edition, and it may be expected that the public will be disposed to purchase and read the matter of the Reports as they are issued, in the form in which they are now proposed to be published.

Task progress of Constitutional reform in the United States is not one of the least interesting features of our national history, and shows the growth of the public mind in the appreciation of the science of government, and has kept up with the increase of population, of power, and of duty.

Our new State Constitution, now entering on the advance age of half a century, in the vigor of its maturity, was among the best of its day, as the hardy and enlightened men who framed it were in advance of their contemporaries of other States in practical knowledge of republican government. But it has now grown old, and the people have, by an overwhelming majority, resolved that it shall be subjected to the ordeal of a thorough revision. That the duty will be well and faithfully performed, we have the surest guarantee in the strong minds, words, and deeds of general intelligence of our people, which will cause them to select delegates possessing the highest order of talents, and the best acquirements for the important duty assigned them.

From the distinguished character of Kentucky Statesmen in 1849, and abroad, for eloquence, patriotism and judgment, the Debates in the Convention are expected to be of a high order, and to be characterized by a degree of manner and vigor of style which will commend them to the literary taste, and general interest of all classes of our fellow citizens. But the greatest value which will attach to this proposed authentic history of the Convention, is that which will most commend it to the public patronage, will be its capacity to show to the people and to posterity, the process and reasons which led to the adoption of the organic law of the State, and to the principles upon which each provision stands; the motives which governed the builders of the arch of their civil and religious liberties; in fact, the mode in which every stone of the political edifice was laid.

In 1792, Mr. Madison foresaw with the keen of a prophet, that after generations would seek with the natural activity of curious and inquiring minds, for the reasons, objects and opinions of the enlightened men which formed the Constitution of the United States, to enable them to see by what process of reasoning the new system of government adopted by them, received its peculiar structure and organization. Congress paid for his comparative meagre, but accurate and interesting reports, in manuscript, thirty thousand dollars, and the people in every State and in almost every town and country in the Union, sought to secure copies at a high price. It is true that the Convention was working a chart of liberty for a Nation, and when the work of their hands was completed, the printing of a full and complete history of the Convention for twenty years, three-quarters of a century, the nearest approach to a permanent record, is greater than can be claimed for any other production of the genius or intellect of man.

It is here proposed to do for Kentucky what Mr. Madison performed for a Nation, and the predictions venture, that fifty years will find the history of the Convention in Kentucky, to possess scarcely less interest than that of the confederacy of 1787.

By securing a copy of these Debates, every man will have the arguments and reasons before him, to guide him to an intelligent decision when the new Constitution shall be submitted to his approval; and thus, whether good or bad, he can act upon it as a discriminating judgment will dictate. Hence, we rely with confidence on the intelligence and liberality of our fellow citizens to extend to the proposed work, a patronage commensurate with its importance and its intrinsic value.

WILLIAM TANNER.

CONDITIONS.
If the work shall not exceed six hundred pages, it will be furnished, well bound, for THREE DOLLARS per copy, and at the rate of FIVE CENTS per hundred additional pages.

All Editors and Publishers of Newspapers, or Periodicals in Kentucky, who will publish the foregoing, once or twice a month, shall be furnished with the Debates well bound.

SCOTT'S

Patent Improved and Ventilated

REFRIGERATORS.

ON A NEW PRINCIPLE!!

THIS superior article is constructed so that the ice-water is slowly melted through metallic shells, which is done by the action of a small apparatus, which is the same throughout the whole apparatus. The water, as it melts from the ice, is confined with it, and does not escape, but is kept in contact with the ice, and thus the ice is kept from melting, and the water is kept from becoming warm. This is done by the action of a small apparatus, which is the same throughout the whole apparatus. Bishop Andrew, of the M. E. Church.
I have frequently used Price's Patent Texas Tonic, believe it to be a valuable medicine. I found it to finely on the bowels, and, I think, on the liver also.

H. R. W. Hill, Esq., of the house of Dick Hill, N. O.
Since I used your Tonic I have been entirely free from sick headache. I have known a half wine-glass full to cure a chill. Prepare me a demijohn for my plantation.

Thomas Enkins, Esq., N. O.

Sir: A negro woman of mine took a violent cold, I gave her one spoonfull; she was well the next day and so remains—I have used your Texas Tonic in my family. We think very highly of it.

THOMAS ENKINS

Dr. Wm. M. Gwin, Washington City.
SIR: At the suggestion of the Hon. D. H. Lewin, who uses your Texas Tonic, being attacked with a lent cold and predisposition to Rheumatism, the first in my life, I commenced the use of your Tonic, which entirely relieved me of both. I have no hesitation in saying it is a valuable medicine. The Hon. John C. Calhoun uses it as his only remedy of weakness.

President Bascomb, Transylvania University
I state with pleasure that your Texas Tonic has been used in my family with decidedly fine effect.

JOHN PRICK, Esq.—SIR Having used myself, and my family, several bottles of "Price Patent Texas-ic," and having experienced much benefit from it, I pleasure in recommending it to the public as a valuable family medicine.

Respectfully,

H. G. RUNNELS.

From Dr. Wm. B. Keene.

Your Texas Tonic is the most agreeable medicine I have ever used to relieve the bowels, promoting peristaltic motion. I have tried it in cases of Cholera and Fever with success. The happy combination of ingredients forming the Tonic, will almost certainly

 The Westminster Review, and Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine.
 The wide spread fame of these splendid Periodicals renders it needless to say much in their praise. literary organs, they stand far in advance of any of a similar stamp now published, while the politeness and complexity of each is marked by a dignity, ease, and forbearance, not often found in works of the present character.

They embrace the views of the three great parties in England—Tory, Whig, and Radical, and each would the "London Quarterly" are Tory; the "Punch and View" Whig; and the "Westminster Review" Radical. The "North British Review" is more of a religious character, having been originally edited by Mr. C. J. May, and now, since his death, being conducted by his son-in-law, Mr. Hanna, associated with Sir John Lubbock, his literary character is, like very few others, of the order. The "Westminster" though reprinted that title only, is published in England under the name of the "Foreign Quarterly and Westernizer," it is in fact a union of the two Reviews formerly published under separate titles. It has, therefore, the advantage by this combination, of omitting no work, the best features of both as heretofore issued.

The above Periodicals are re-printed in New-York immediately on their arrival by the British steam in a beautiful clean type, on fine white paper, and faithful copies of the originals. BLACKWOOD'S MANUSCRIPTS being an exact fac-simile of the Edinburgh edition.
